Dear Candidate,

Thank you for your interest in this exciting role as Chief Executive of Just for Kids Law. We believe passionately in the rights of children and young people and our mission is to provide high quality services, as well as wide ranging strategic litigation and campaigning to embed and uphold these.

We work tirelessly with young people and children on a range of issues, including criminal justice, school exclusion, homelessness, social care support for those in care or leaving care and immigration. For those young people who want further support we help them access education, training and employment opportunities. Building on the work of founders Shauneen Lambe and Aika Stevenson, we have grown exponentially over the last decade and are proud of our organisation that consistently punches above its weight and provides a number of strands of interrelated work. Under the leadership of our outgoing CEO, Enver Solomon, significant and consistent fundraising success has allowed us to continue to grow and expand. We are in a strong and stable position with robust finances and reserves (although there is no room for complacency), a clear strategy and passionate staff team, a stable leadership team and an experienced and engaged Board of Trustees. We have also recently moved to a new, modern office that will allow us to work as effectively and collaboratively as possible. In recognition of our achievements we were ‘highly commended’ in the charity of the year category at the CYP Now Magazine Awards 2019.

Our role is to provide both individual and holistic legal advice and representation and youth advocacy, as well as strategic litigation and campaigning, to ensure an even wider impact for large numbers of young people. We are particularly proud of key legal cases and campaigns we have led, such as changes to detention for under 18’s to ensure that 17-year-olds have the same representation as children (Still a Child at 17). More recently, as a result of a case we brought to the Supreme Court, the government changed the disclosure of criminal records to prevent the disclosure of youth reprimands to future employers, which previously went against human rights legislation. Our legal intervention has also enabled increasing numbers of young migrants to access student loans and grants in order to pursue their university studies, which a year ago led to the creation of a new independent charity, We Belong, which is the first in the UK to be run entirely by, and for, young migrants.

In this pack, you will find information about our work and our values. This is a unique opportunity for a motivated and dynamic person with energy and ambition, a track record of strategic leadership and a passion for supporting children and young people when they most need it.

I hope you find this information interesting and enlightening and I look forward to hearing from you.

Best wishes,

Carolyn Regan
Chair of Trustees on behalf of the Board
There are many ways that a child or young person can find themselves in trouble and not know where to turn. They might be excluded from school, facing homelessness, caught up in the bureaucracy of the care system or facing criminal charges having been exploited by drug gangs. They find themselves in situation where it feels nobody wants to listen to them or allow them to be heard. They desperately need somebody to work with and for them to stand up for their rights and hold those with power to account. That’s what we do at Just for Kids Law.

Our vision is for all children and young people in the UK to have their legal rights and entitlements respected and promoted, and their voices heard and valued. We exist to work with and for children and young people to hold those with power to account and fight for wider reform. We do this by providing legal representation and advice, direct advocacy and support, and through strategic litigation, campaigning and equipping others to work for children’s rights.

Our values are to act with integrity, respect, courage and compassion. We put these values into practice in our relationships with the children and young people we work with, our colleagues and our partner organisations.

Since we were founded in 2006, we have developed a unique model of casework. Our model is holistic, both in the way that it provides support for multiple areas of need that a young person may have, and in the way that children and young people are supported by a team of youth advocates, lawyers and youth opportunities workers who are co-located to provide a joined-up package of help.

We take evidence from this casework to fight for wider reform, bringing the voices of young people to the fore, challenging the government in the courts and lobbying in Westminster and Whitehall with a clear focus on children’s rights.
Our Data

We worked with 1,032 children and young people, mainly in 31 London boroughs, through our casework providing youth advocacy, legal advice and representation and youth opportunities support.

We supported these young people to address a range of needs, relating to housing, social care, education, immigration and criminal justice issues, working on 1,390 individual cases. Nearly a third of these were one off advice.

In June 2018, we conducted a strategic review of our work and priorities going forward. The result is a strategic plan that provides a clear framework to ensure our growth and development over the next three years, and to ensure the organisation is well placed to fulfil our charitable objectives.

OUR STRATEGIC AIMS
From understanding our vision and mission, reviewing the environment in which we work and our core strengths, we have developed four strategic aims:

1. Secure outcomes for individual children and young people
2. Secure changes to the legal, policy and practice environment for children and young people
3. Maintain and develop a robust organisation using our strengths to maximum impact
4. Develop an organisation in which participation is central to all our activities

These four aims are equally important and over the life of the strategy are being given the same prioritisation. However, we recognise that both maintaining and developing a robust organisation and developing an organisation in which participation is central underpins all our work.

PUTTING IT INTO PRACTICE
In 2020, the second year of our strategy, we plan to take forward a number of changes...

• We will ensure the wellbeing of our staff is paramount, implementing a new policy and action plan as well as putting in place a comprehensive package of support, including reflective practice, clinical supervision and regular training for all our frontline staff. This will build their resilience and ensure they are equipped to do the best job possible with the children and young people we support

• We will further develop campaigning work to highlight the lack of social care and housing support for older teenagers and young people, including care leavers, taking the evidence from our casework to improve policy and practice

• We will pilot and implement new outcome indicators that demonstrate the real difference we make to the young people we support and review our new SMS survey that we send to all young people we work with. We will also start to better capture the impact we make in our work to secure legal, policy and practice reforms for children and young people

• We will move to a new office so that we have a working environment for our staff that meets their needs and is fit for purpose

The current strategy runs to June 2021 but the Board has recently agreed to update it and extend it for another year to June 2022. The revised strategy will be published at the end of October.

EQUALITY AND DIVERSITY
Currently approximately 30% of our staff group come from BAME backgrounds. Our new equality and diversity policy will include an equality and diversity action plan co-produced with staff and a commitment to create a more diverse staff group, including at senior leadership and Board levels. We recognise we have more to do and are fully committed to it.
We are in the fortunate position of having solid, growing reserves and stable income streams. We have recently achieved an annual surplus to invest in the organisation’s future plans.
